Use this guide to ask a judge to end a minor guardianship and return children to the parents, or to change something about the guardianship such as visitation, decision-making, or who the guardian is. (Forms and instructions)

1. Fast facts

After a guardianship case is finalized, things may change over time. The parents' situation may improve, or the guardian may need someone else to take on the responsibility. The parents, guardian, child age 12 or older, or someone else interested in the children's welfare can file in court to change or end (terminate) a minor guardianship.

The same rules and process apply for ending a Non-Parent Custody Order. Those orders were issued instead of guardianship before the law changed in 2021. If you want to change a Non-Parent Custody Order, you may have to file a Petition for Minor Guardianship.

A judge will end (will terminate) the guardianship if the original reasons for the guardianship no longer exist, unless they find that ending the guardianship would be harmful to the children and the children's interest in continuing the guardianship outweighs the parent's interests in ending it.

If guardianship is terminated, the parents will go back to having the same rights they did before the guardianship or non-parent custody case started. Any order requiring a parent to pay child support to the guardian or non-parent custodian will also end.

You can ask to change a guardianship to change the parents' visitation (residential schedule), decision-making, access to records, or to replace the guardian with a different person. This could be a "successor guardian" named in the original order, or someone else if needed.

The process to change or end minor guardianship only applies if there's a final order.

Don't use this process if any of these describes your situation:

- There's no court order entered, just a proposed order

- There's only an Emergency Minor Guardianship order
 - The state put your children in foster care (you lost custody in a dependency case)
 - You lost custody to the other parent
 - A court has ended (has terminated) your parental rights

2. Step-by-step

Follow these steps to change or end a final minor guardianship or non-parent custody order.

1. Decide where to file. Usually, you file in the same court that issued the minor guardianship or non-parent custody order. If the child has moved, you may file where the child is living now.
2. Fill out the forms (except for the Proof of Personal Service).

The court will charge a $56 filing fee if you're filing in the same county as the original order. If you're filing in a new county, the filing fee will be at least $260. If you can't afford the filing fee, also fill out the forms to ask the judge to cancel (waive) the filing fee.

3. Contact the Superior Court Clerk's office or family law facilitator (https://www.courts.wa.gov/court_dir/?fa=court_dir.facils) where you'll be filing the case. Tell them you're filing a Petition to Terminate or Change a Minor Guardianship or Non-Parent Custody Order. Ask if they have special (local) forms you must use to schedule a hearing on your petition. If so, use those forms instead of ours.

Ask the clerk when you can schedule a hearing on your petition and for help with the other details on the Notice of Hearing form. Usually, you should schedule this hearing to take place more than 20 days after you'll serve the other parties. You can also wait to fill this part out until you go to court to file your papers.

4. Make copies. You need one copy of each completed form for yourself, one for the judge, and one for each other party to your case.

Organize the copies in sets, so there's one set for each person who needs a copy. You don't have to give the other party a copy of the Proof of Personal Service. Put each set of papers into an envelope addressed to each party, with your return address. You'll use these sets for service.

If a child support prosecutor (often called "the state") is involved in your case, you'll need to serve them with a copy of everything you file in court. Make an extra copy to serve on them.

5. File the originals with the Superior Court Clerk. Give the clerk the originals of all your forms for filing except you should ask the clerk what to do with the originals of any proposed orders. Follow the clerk's instructions.

Ask the clerk to stamp your copies to show the date you filed the originals. Take the stamped copies back from the clerk. The clerk keeps the original.

Deliver working copies to the judge, if required in your county.

6. Have the other party personally served with copies of everything you filed and any proposed orders at least 20 days before the hearing. Ask the clerk if your county's deadline is different.

Exception! Don't serve a copy of the Confidential Information form. That's just for you and the court.

Follow the rules to serve papers to start a new case. Someone age 18 or older must hand-deliver the papers to the other party. You can get a friend to do this, or you can pay a professional process server or the county sheriff's office to do it.

7. Review any response. Reply if needed and allowed in your county.
The other party must give you a copy of any response they file. You don't have to reply, but you may want to if they bring up new issues or say things that aren't true.

Ask the court clerk or facilitator

(https://www.courts.wa.gov/court_dir/?fa=court_dir.facils), if your county has one, if replies are allowed in your county and, if so, when they are due. If allowed, you can file a declaration from yourself or others replying to the other party's response. Limit your reply to addressing issues in the other party's response. Serve a copy of your reply on the other party by the deadline. Deliver working copies to the judge if required in your county.

8. Try to reach agreement. If the other party agrees, you can avoid a complicated trial. You can both sign proposed orders to present to the judge.

You may offer to go to mediation with the other party, where a neutral third party can help you both come to an agreement. Resolution Washington (<https://www.resolutionwa.org/locations>) has a list of Dispute Resolution Centers (<https://www.resolutionwa.org/locations>) you may contact to find out about mediation options in your county.

9. Confirm your hearing, if needed. In some counties, you must contact the clerk's office to confirm that you want your hearing to happen on the day it is scheduled. If you don't confirm by the deadline, your hearing will be canceled. Ask the court clerk for instructions.
10. Get ready for your hearing. Each court is handling these hearings differently. Try to talk to a lawyer for help preparing. The hearing you schedule when you file your petition may be just the first of several hearings before a trial is scheduled.

11. Go to the hearing. Bring copies of all the papers you filed, your proof of service, and extra copies of the proposed Order you want the judge to sign. Ask the judge to sign your proposed Order on Petition to Terminate or Change Minor Guardianship or Non-Parent Custody Order.

Ask the Superior Court Clerk or facilitator when you can schedule a hearing on your petition and for help with the other details on the Notice of Hearing form. Usually, you should schedule this hearing to take place more than 20 days after you'll serve the other parties. You can also wait to fill this part out until you go to court to file your papers.

Tips for filling out Order on Petition to Terminate or Change Minor Guardianship or Non-Parent Custody Order (GDN M 503)

Fill out the order form the way you want the judge to sign it. This is a proposed order you'll ask the judge to sign at the hearing. If you're not sure about something in the order, leave it blank for the judge to complete.

Tips for filling out Proof of Personal Service (GDN ALL 007)

Have your server fill out this form after they've served the other parties.

Follow the rules for personal service.

Check to be sure your server filled out the date of service, who the papers were delivered to, and how they were delivered. Also be sure the form lists all documents that were served. If your server leaves out a form, you won't have proof it was served

I will provide the Indian Child Welfare Act Notice (form GDN M 401) and a copy of this Petition to the tribe/s named above (and other necessary people or agencies) to find out whether any of the children are eligible for membership.

I do not know if any of the children are Indian children. I have done the following things to try to find out:

12. Jurisdiction Over Indian Children

Does not apply. None of the children are Indian children.

A state court can decide this case for the Indian children because:

- (Children's names):* _____ are not domiciled or living on an Indian reservation, and are not wards of a tribal court. (25 U.S.C. § 1911)
- (Children's names):* _____ are domiciled or living on an Indian reservation, and (check all that apply):
 - The children's tribe agrees to Washington state's concurrent jurisdiction.
 - The children's tribe decided not to use its exclusive jurisdiction (expressly declined). (RCW 13.38.060)
 - Washington state should claim emergency jurisdiction for children temporarily located off the reservation to protect the children from immediate physical damage or harm. (RCW 13.38.140)

13. Jurisdiction Over Children (RCW 26.27.201–.221, .231, .261, .271)

The court can change a guardianship or non-parent custody order for the children because (check all that apply; if a box applies to all of the children, you may write "the children" instead of listing names):

- Washington order/exclusive, continuing jurisdiction – The order I want to change was made by a Washington court, and the court still has authority to make orders for (children's names): _____

- Other state's order – The order I want to change was not made by a Washington state court AND (check one):
 - A court in the state (or tribe) that made the order has made another order saying that it no longer has jurisdiction or that it is better to have this case decided in Washington;
 - No child, parent, or person acting as a parent lives in the state (or tribal reservation) that made the order anymore;

AND (check one):

- Home state jurisdiction – Washington is the children's home state because (check all that apply):
 - (Children's names):* _____ lived in Washington with a parent or someone acting as a parent for at least the 6 months just before this case was filed or, if the children are less than 6 months old, they have lived in Washington with a parent or someone acting as a parent since birth.
 - There were times the children were not in Washington in the 6 months just before this case was filed (or since birth if they are less than 6 months old), but those were temporary absences.
 - (Children's names):* _____

do not live in Washington right now, but Washington was the children's home state sometime in the 6 months just before this case was filed, and a parent or someone acting as a parent of the children, still lives in Washington.

(Children's names):

_____ do not have another home state.

No home state or home state declined – No court of any other state (or tribe) has the jurisdiction to make decisions for (children's names):

_____ or a court in the children's home state (or tribe) decided it is better to have this case in Washington, and:

- The children and a parent, or someone acting as a parent, have ties to Washington beyond just living here (significant connection); and
- There is a lot of information (substantial evidence) about the children's care, protection, education, and relationships in this state.

Temporary emergency jurisdiction – The order I want to change was not made by a Washington state court. A Washington court can make decisions for (children's names):

_____ because the children are in this state now and were abandoned here or need emergency protection because the children (or the children's parent or siblings) were abused or threatened with abuse. Washington should take temporary emergency jurisdiction over the children until the Petitioner can get a court order from the state (or tribe) that made the original order.

 - (Children’s names): _____ do not have another home state.
- No home state or home state declined – No court of any other state has the jurisdiction to make decisions for (children’s names): _____
